ARTICLE 3 - OBLIGATIONS OF THE CLIENT

The client is obliged:

1. To furnish in good time all information and particulars which he knows or ought to know are relevant to the Commercial Remover. This shall enable the Commercial Remover to form an accurate picture of the commercial removal in terms of volume, weight, handling of the items, length of time, applicability of special regulations and necessary security measures. The Commercial Remover shall have the right to examine the accuracy of the information provided.
2. To inform the Commercial Remover in writing of the weight of very heavy items, such as safes and machines, and of the maximum permissible floor load of the premises in which such an object is to be placed. This shall also apply to the maximum permissible floor load of the sections across which the item must be moved in the building.

2. If the Client has failed to comply with his obligations under article 3, he shall compensate the Commercial Remover for the resulting loss or damage.
3. Subject to the provisions of paragraph 2 of this article, the Commercial Remover may terminate the commercial removal contract if the Client has entirely failed to perform his obligations under article 3 paragraph 5 subsection a. Such termination may not take place until the Commercial Remover has set the Client a final term in writing and the Client has not yet fulfilled his obligations by the time of the expiry of such final term. If setting a time limit would disrupt the operation of his business in a disproportionate manner, the Commercial Remover may also terminate the contract without setting a time limit.
4. Notice of termination based on the preceding paragraph must be given in writing and the agreement shall terminate upon receipt of such notice.
5. If at the agreed time and place, the Client has placed only part of the items to be removed at the Commercial Remover's disposal, the Commercial Remover shall, at the Client's request, remove the items provided against payment of the removal price already agreed.

If the commercial removal does not take place within this period, the contract shall be deemed to have been terminated. In that event the Client shall owe the same compensation as set out in section 10 of these conditions in the event of termination within 0 - 5 days prior to the scheduled date of removal.
8. If the Client has not fulfilled his obligation as mentioned in article 3 paragraph 5 sub c, then the new value of the packaging material is considered to be the damage mentioned in paragraph 2 of this article.

ARTICLE 5 - OBLIGATIONS OF THE COMMERCIAL REMOVER

The Commercial Remover is obliged:

5. In the event of delay as referred to in article 5, paragraph 4, of these conditions, the Commercial Remover shall be obliged - if the rightsholder proves that this has caused loss or damage - to pay compensation for such loss or damage, to be agreed upon, which compensation shall not exceed the removal price.

The Client may, subject to the Commercial Remover's consent and against payment of a fee to be agreed (such as a premium for the insurance to be taken out by the Commercial Remover), declare in writing a value of the removal goods exceeding the maximum stated in paragraph 8 of this article. In that case, the amount declared shall replace this maximum. In any event, this amount may not exceed the actual value of the items.
10. If the Commercial Remover fails to perform his obligations under article 5, paragraphs 1, 3, 5 and 8, the Client may terminate the commercial removal contract. Such termination may take place only after he has allowed the Commercial Remover a time limit in which his obligations must be performed and if after such time the Commercial Remover has still not performed his obligations.
11. After termination, the Commercial Remover shall be obliged to compensate the Client for the additional costs which the latter proves to have incurred as a result of the termination. In any event, such compensation shall not exceed the agreed removal price.
12. If the Commercial Remover fails to perform his obligations under article 5, paragraphs 6, 9 and 10, of these conditions, the Commercial Remover shall compensate the Client for the loss or damage which the latter proves to have suffered. In any event, such compensation shall not exceed the agreed removal price.
13. If the Commercial Remover fails to comply with his obligation referred to in article 5, paragraph 11, of these conditions, the Commercial Remover shall be liable on the same basis as a contractor (Book 7, Section 400 et seq. of the Civil Code) for the consequences of the loss or improper handling of the documents handed over to him. In any event, the compensation due by him shall not exceed the compensation due in case of loss of the items.

Note:

Article 6 of these terms & conditions increases the liability of the Commercial Remover in respect of his liability as laid down in Book 8, Section 1095 of the Civil Code.

By virtue of Book 8, Section 1102 of the Civil Code, this increase of liability is null and void, unless article 6 of these terms & conditions is laid down in a separate document containing the commercial removal contract. ARTICLE 7 – CLAIM NOTIFICATION AND LOSS CLAIM

1. If the items are delivered by the Commercial Remover with apparent damage or loss, and the Client does not communicate any reservation in writing to the Commercial Remover upon or immediately after acceptance of the items, the Commercial Remover shall be deemed to have delivered the items in the same condition as in which he received them. The claim notification must state the general nature of the loss or damage.
2. If there is no visible damage or loss and the Client does not, within one week after acceptance of the items, make a reservation in writing stating the general nature of the damage or the loss to the Commercial Remover, then also in this case, it shall be presumed that the Commercial Remover has delivered the items in the same condition as in which he received them.

ARTICLE 12 - SECURITIES

1. The Commercial Remover shall have a right of lien on items and documents in his possession in connection with the commercial removal contract in respect of any person requiring their delivery.
